

THINGS CAN GET UGLY AT
3,000 METERS OF DEPTH.
WE SEE A BEAUTIFUL
OPPORTUNITY.

Let's face it, the days of easy oil are over. As you explore further offshore in deeper and more sour conditions, you're certain to face many challenges. Like higher pressures, corrosion and safety issues. Or maximizing your oil recovery more from older reserves. One thing is certain: extreme conditions demand extremely reliable materials. Having supplied the offshore industry from more than 40 years and present in all the major energy hubs, we understand your needs. So as you go deeper, we're working at your side, we're at your side, working to help you get there. www.sandvik.com

